Mokena Lions Marshal Forces For Wind-up Of Operation Fruit Cake

Charles Swanberg, chairman of the Mokena Lions club fruit cake sale, is exhorting all teams enlisted in the campaign to really work at it in the next three weeks.

There isn't much left of the fruit cake season, Mr. Swanberg pointed out. Counting today there are but 20 days left before Christmas. The 20th day is Christmas eve, and this reminds Mr. Swanberg, he said, that many families and friends get together on Christmas eve—some to distribute gifts, some to trim trees, some to make final plans for the morrow.

"But whatever the reason," Mr. Swanberg remarked "such occasions always wind up with something to eat and what could be more fitting than to cap such a repast with slices of fruit cake. Fruit cake is good anytime, really, but fruit cake and Thanksgiving or fruit cake and Christmas are like fried chicken, ice cream and the Fourth of July.

Must Get Job Done

"If we are to be successful in our fruit cake sale we have to do it in the next 20 days. Selling fruit cake after Christmas is like trying to sell sandwiches to a bunch that has just finished a Thanksgiving day dinner.

"Therefore," Mr. Swanberg concluded, "it is up to all of us to get the job done now. We don't have to be afraid to go back and sell a family another cake if they used up the one they had at Thanksgiving. It's good cake and for anyone who likes relaxed living—it's the best. There is a lot of stirring and mixing to making fruit cake and then you have to age it. The things that go into such a cake are expensive, so why not let us save you work and money. The cakes we are selling are made from a famous receipt and of the best ingredients. They are baked by masters and properly aged. We go a step further this year in trying to enable you to take full advantage of relaxed living. You don't even have to cut the cake. It comes to you already sliced. All one has to do is pick up a slice and eat it."

Frankfort Lions To Open Sales Drive Saturday

The Frankfort Lions club is girding for a two day whirlwind fund raising campaign that is to open Saturday and close Sunday.

Proceeds according to Burt Breidert, general chairman, will be devoted to development of the community's park facilities and improvements at the skating pond.

Work at the park is not immediate but now is the time and the temperature for the skating pond, it was pointed out.

To raise the needed funds the Frankfort Lions plan a door to door canvass with a variety of wares. They have candy, in big, attractive beribboned boxes—fruit cake, snug in red tins that reflect the colors associated with the Holidays—and brooms, house and whisk.

Unwrapping gifts and re-wrapping them in Christmas attire always leaves a lot of litter about the house these days and of course, there is apt to be quite a little snow to track indoors in the next few weeks, so the Lions figure that this is broom time.

Besides the calls in Frankfort itself the Lions plan to visit homes in Lincoln Estates and all other nearby housing developments.

There are 55 members in the club who are signed up to make the campaign, according to chairman Breidert.

Boat fittings are made of Monel-nickel-copper alloy because of its good resistance to salt water corrosion.

MAKE YOUR PROTEST NOW

There isn't much time left in which to file protests against the increase in the multiplying factor used to determine property valuations in Will county in fixing the amount of taxes you must pay—but we can still voice our protest.

It makes no difference whether you lease or own real estate. You are going to have to pay, either direct to the tax collector or in increased rents. And besides that there is the question of your personal taxes. They are going up too.

Taxes in Will county are to go up 14 per cent if the factor of 7.1428 is permitted to supplant the 1956 factor of 6.25. The factor is used to multiply the valuation placed on property by the assessor. For example, if the assessor fixes the value of your property at $2,000 and the 7.1428 factor is employed, the value given in your tax bill would be $14,285. Under the 6.25 factor the total value on the same property would be $12,500.

Theoretically the factor is supposed to place a hundred per cent valuation on property but in practice it doesn't work out that way. In some cases the valuation is not up to market value and in some it is far in excess.

The factor is established by a state bureau, the Department of Revenue. All bureaus eventually become imbued with a lust for power and the state department of revenue is no exception.

The bureaucrats that people the department of revenue have become despots. They have fixed new factors for several counties for 1957—including Will—without rhyme or reason and refuse to account for their actions. They won't say how they arrived at the figure they did, nor why.

It has been difficult indeed for the protesting groups in Will county to even get an acknowledgement that their protests have been received.

Chambers of Commerce in Joliet and other Will county cities and villages as well as other civic groups and the county board have joined in protesting against the high handed and arbitrary manner in which the department of revenue conducts its business.

These groups have appealed to the legislators of the area and the governor asking for a review of the situation. The department of revenue condescended to hold a preliminary hearing at Chicago yesterday and will hold a public hearing at Springfield next Monday, Dec. 9.

The various groups that have been leading the fight on this arbitrary tax raise will be present at the hearing at Springfield Monday.

Most of us, naturally, cannot attend but we can write Governor Stratton and voice our protests. The department of revenue is but a creature of the administration and if the governor says "No" to the increase even the bureaucrats are bound to listen.

As we have said there is not much time left but if you sit down and write the governor now it will help.

(Address your letters to, Gov. William G. Stratton, Springfield, Ill.)

Fewer Riders,— Higher Fares, Says Rock Island

Loss of commuters who find local employment in newly established suburban factories and a decrease in theatregoers, were given as reasons why the Rock Island railroad must increase suburban fares.

At an Illinois Commerce Commission hearing last week on the road's request for a 20 per cent commuter fare hike, Martin L. Cassell, Rock Island attorney, said opening of a Caterpillar Tractor plant in Joliet, cost the road 200 Joliet-Chicago riders. They now work at home, he explained.

Outside the hearing, Cassell also said that television was responsible for keeping at home rider who previously attended movies and theatres in the loop.

The Rock Island claims it is losing $1,500,000 a year on its suburban service, despite 20 per cent fare increases granted in 1953 and 1956.

The attorney contended that the number of commuters on

W. H. Geisler Buys Boleman Drug Store

The Boleman drug store at 103 Front street, Mokena has changed ownership. The new proprietor is William H. Geisler who for the past four years has been manager of the Seltzer drug store at Lockport.

Geisler purchased the stock and lease of the premises from Mrs. Lillian Boleman, widow of the former owner, Henry Boleman, who died last May. The change in ownership became effective Dec. 1 but Mr. Geisler will not leave his present job until the first of the year. The hearing was continued to Dec. 4 when commuters will present their case.

Frankfort Methodist Get Gift Of $40,000

A check in the amount of $40,000 was presented the Frankfort Church Building Fund at a special presentation ceremony in the regular 9:30 a.m. worship service last Sunday morning, Dec. 1. The check was received from the estate of the late Joseph McGlashan of Chicago, a former resident of Frankfort.

Arthur Mark Sr., chairman of the board of trustees, presented the check which he had received from the estate. Arthur C. Bauch, building committee chairman, accepted the gift on behalf of the building fund. The congregation responded with words of thanksgiving and praise, the pledged use of the gift to the glory of God. The ceremony concluded with a prayer of dedication led by the Rev. Ben F. Day, pastor.

The Frankfort church is nearing completion of a new $200,000 edifice at Sauk Trail and Linden Drive. The building is expected to be placed into service before the first of the year.

FARM NEWS

For Cook County

You'll have a safer and more enjoyable Christmas if you choose your Yule tree carefully. A tree that has been cut too long or stored in a warm place will lose its needles quickly, and it's a fire hazard that can turn your Christmas into a tragedy.

The needles on a fresh tree are limber, not brittle. If the needles snap or shatter easily, they will not only drop quickly, but will be a fire hazard once the tree is in a warm place. Be sure the tree holder has a good-sized water container, and keep it filled. Make a new cut on the bottom of the tree, slicing the trunk at an angle. This will let it absorb more water.

Farming is no longer a way of life; it is strictly a business if we really want to make a satisfactory income. Needless to say, it is more important than ever to study your business thru good farm records to know where you stand.

It is sometimes more profitable to have an empty stallion in the barn than to have it hold a low-producing cow.

Average cost of producing corn was 72 cents a bushel for a 100-bushel yield in 1956 on northern Illinois farms. On these farms, a 78-bushel yield in 1955 cost 91 cents a bushel to produce.

There is still time this fall to do maintenance work on farm building. Replace rotted siding and broken window panes, repair sagging doors before winter sets in.

How much land can one man farm? The average tenant farmer in the Farm Bureau Farm Management Service operating under a crop-share lease on very good land in 1956 farmed 200 acres of tillable land with a total input of only 12.7 months of labor. On this land he had 122 acres in corn and soybeans, 45 acres in small grains and 33 acres in rotation hay and pasture. In addition, he had an average of 111 hens, 17 animal units of cattle and 17 litters of pigs. Landlords who own less than 200 acres of good land should either allow their tenants to rent additional land or provide opportunities for extra livestock to utilize the tenant's available labor.

Did you know that on a given span a 2 by 8 is almost twice as strong as a 2 by 6, and a 2 by 10 is nearly three times as strong as a 2 by 6.

Many of us have plans for several years ahead. Educating our children, owning our farm and other such important goals are part of these plans. Our ability to achieve these goals depends upon being able to maintain our earning power. Could you do that if you were permanently disabled? Suppose you should lose an arm or a leg—could you make the adjustment that would be necessary?

Veterinarians at the University of Illinois say it will cost you three more bushels of corn to raise a wormy pig than a healthy one. In addition, it may take you an extra month to get wormy pigs to market weight. The key to raising worm-free pigs is to farrow them under sanitary conditions and then keep them clean.

In going through the Panama Canal one travels a little more than 50 miles.

Highway Ice Causes Pile Up Near Frankfort

A passenger car, three trucks, a hill and just a touch of skid-ice combined to produce a situation Tuesday night that kept wrecker crews and state police busy and traffic at a standstill for two hours.

It was cold Tuesday night but few of the scores of motorists stalled by the highway hallo-ween felt it—mounting blood pressures and sizzling tempers kept them warm.

State Trooper Robert Cepican got rather cold standing out on the highway all that time but before his fingers became too numb he had jotted down the facts for his report and had written out a ticket for William C. Moore, 45, of 1718 Halsted, Chicago Heights, charging him with driving too fast for conditions.

According to the trooper's report it all began when Moore started down a hill on U.S. 30, about a mile east of where that thoroughfare is cut by U.S. 45. Both highways skirt Frankfort. It was about 7:30 o'clock.

Moore was driving a truck loaded with lumber. He was east bound. Snow that had covered the highway had been melted down and then caught by the cold to form a thin coating of ice. Moore apparently was traveling too fast, according to the report. It was just as if the wheels had shot out from under the truck. The vehicle began to skid and slide.

A west bound car driven by Lawrence Weston, 33, of Rt. 1, Frankfort, was struck by the skidding truck and flicked off the highway. Moore fought desperately to regain control of his truck without success. The vehicle skidded 550 feet before it finally overturned in a ditch alongside the road. Some of its load was in the ditch but a large portion of the lumber lay on the pavement, thus increasing the odds against the other vehicles that were now coming down the hill.

Edward Petrovich, 28, of Chicago, trundling along with two empty—fortunately—gasoline tankers bumping and clanking behind his tractor, took in the situation as he came over the top of the hill and promptly jackknifed his truck to avoid smashing into the lumber rig and the passenger car and the scattered lumber. The cab and first tank of the tanker heeled over in the ditch. The second tanker stood upright on the highway, making another hazard for Delbert Telfer, 33, of Big Run, Pa., who was coming along with a semi-trailer loaded to the roof with canned hams.

Telfer jackknifed his outfit in an endeavor to avoid the tanker and lumber on the highway and the vehicles in the ditches. He succeeded but the effort caused his semi-trailer to overturn. The traffic remained intact and there was no outpouring of ham to make the wait worthwhile for motorists who had to wait for the road to be cleared.

It was about 9:30 when the last of the wreckage had been hauled away and normal traffic restored. The moral, of course, is not to travel when roads are icy but probably the only ones who will heed such advice, police muse, are those unable to get out of bed or already occupy cemetery lots.

George Stermer, Former Mokena Resident, Dies

Mr. George Stermer, late of 1202 E. Jackson St., Joliet former resident of Mokena, died Nov. 29, in Silver Cross hospital shortly after taking ill suddenly at the plant where he was employed. Mr. Stermer was born in Canton, Ohio on June 27, 1891, the son of Samuel and Clara Stermer. His father died when he was an infant.

At the age of 21, Mr. Stermer came to Illinois, where he worked on farms in the Mokena, New Lenox area. He later entered the employment of the United States Steel Co., South Chicago, where he worked for 35 years. After retiring in June 1956, he went to work for Pinkerton Detective Agency as a night watchman at the Pratt Manufacturing Co., on Henderson ave., Joliet.

Mr. Stermer and the former Margaret Vance, of Joliet, were married June 12, 1924. Besides his wife, he is survived by four daughters: Mrs. Arthur Schilling (Carol), of Frankfort; Mrs. Charles Gannaway, (Margaret Jean), of Aiken, S. C.; Mrs. Robert Stoll (Grace), New Lenox; and Mrs. Jack Glenn, (Jeanette) Mokena. Another daughter, Juanita Mateljan, died last year.

Two sons, Lester, of the U. S. Diplomatic Service, Arlington, Va., and Kenneth, of Seattle, Wash., also survive; besides 14 grandchildren. Also two sisters, Mrs. Goldie Carbaugh, Knoxville, Pa., and Mrs. Charles Pine of Pennsylvania.

Four half brothers also survive. They are Harry King, Altoona, Pa.; Russel King, Milville, N. J.; Earl King, Wrighttown, Pa., and Chester King, also of Pennsylvania.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Sonntag Funeral home, Joliet, officiated by the Rev. Rodney Gould, of the Ridgewood Baptist church.

Burial was in Woodlawn Memorial Park cemetery, Joliet.

Mokena Board Says No Curfew; Planners Meet

A suggestion by the Mokena Chamber of Commerce that the village adopt a curfew ordinance affecting youngsters under 16 years of age was discussed by the village board at its meeting Tuesday night but no action was taken.

It was the consensus of opinion of board members that such an ordinance was not needed. There has been little difficulty with the under-16 group, board members pointed out.

A complaint by Robert Hohenstein of 34 E. Bryant st., that a tile crossing a corner of his property had broken with resultant overflow was referred to Fred Steinhagen for investigation. Hohenstein told the board that the tile did not belong to him.

A request from Andrew Zink to install a gasoline tank underground at his home, to serve his trucks, was denied by the board. Under the zoning ordinance, Zink was told, underground gasoline tanks can be installed only in areas classified for industrial use.

Confer With School Board
Mayor James Marti and Village Attorney Raymond Hoolehan are to confer with the Mokena school board relative to payment for the water main extension to the new school. The village agreed to reimburse the school for cost of the main but it may be that the school board will stand part of the cost. But for the water main extension the school board would have had to put in its own well and pump and pay for its operation and maintenance.

Mission has joined the Chicago Regional Planning Association and the village board will pay the membership dues which are $25 a year.

The newly formed Mokena planning commission held its first meeting Nov. 27 in the public school but five of the members were absent so organization of the group was postponed until Dec. 18.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Many citizens are preparing for a big holiday weekend next week. For many, the Fourth of July this year will be marked by a four day holiday as the nation celebrates the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Heavy highway traffic during the period will bring added responsibility to motorists. Some drivers, who refuse to be courteous when behind a steering wheel, will endanger the lives of others as well as their own lives by dangerous driving habits. Top on the list of these bad habits during peak traffic periods, it always seems, is that of some drivers who are in such a hurry to reach their destinations that they will continually risk a serious, if not fatal, accident to "save" a few seconds.

These drivers weave in and out of traffic; they attempt to pass other vehicles without the necessary safe passing distance between their car and cars approaching from the opposite direction; they refuse to yield the right-of-way; and they do not keep a safe distance between their vehicle and the vehicle they are following.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Dec. 18. Fred Lehmann was appointed to act as temporary chairman at the organizational meeting.

Members of the planning group were appointed by the village board. They are: Maurice Angland, George Bills, Les Brownlee, Arthur Jackson, Lawrence Kohl, Albert Kuchenbeck. (Continued to page 16)

DECORATIVE AND ORNAMENTAL is not an empty phrase when used with this picture which was taken in the home economics department at Carl Sandburg high school last week when Mrs. Chester Williams (right) of Orland Park directed a class of women in the art of making decorations for Christmas trees and tables. The other woman is Mrs. W. O. Fisher, also of Orland Park, wife of the superintendent of Sandburg high. In making their own ornaments the makers enjoy them twice—during the process of manufacture and when in use.

Rae Kathryn Moschel, Tinley Park, Weds Soldier At Church Ceremony

The Tinley Park Methodist church was the setting for the wedding ceremony of Rae Kathryn Moschel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Moschel, 6632 W. 175th street, Tinley Park and PFC Robert Joe Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Smith of Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The Rev. Kenneth H. Crandall officiated at the 7 o'clock double ring ceremony held Nov. 16. The church was decorated with bouquets of white mums. The soloist was Mrs. Jackie Hummel, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Jack Thieret at the organ.

The organist, Mrs. Lloyd S. Wilson played suitable music as the guests assembled.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length white velvet and satin gown, fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves bound in satin and a bodice detailed with a satin cummerbund and bow. Her gown was made by an aunt, Miss Lillian Moschel. Her fingertip length veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white Fuji mums interwoven with green ivy.

Miss Marlene Moschel attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a waltz length gown of white circle net with accent of cotton blue in a cummerbund and headpiece.

Bridesmaid, Mrs. Ellen Cook wore a gown identical in design and fabric as the maid of honor with exception to an accent of coral for her cummerbund and headpiece. Both attendants carried a large white mum with white velvet tubing.

PFC James Woullard of Oak Ridge, Tenn. was best man with PFC Wesley Spengler and PFC Edward Nelson, serving as ushers.

A reception was held in the church social hall following the ceremony. Coffee, punch and cake were served.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Moschel wore a gown of military blue with brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a pink gown with pink and black accessories. Both mothers wore a carnation corsage.

Mrs. Minnie B. James, grandmother of the bride was a special guest at the ceremony.

The newlyweds will be at home in El Paso, Texas, where PFC Smith is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Legion Aux. At Tinley Distributes 1,131 Candy Bars

The American Legion Auxiliary of Tinley Park, Unit 615, have distributed 1131 candy bars to the following places: Sherman Cottage at Normal, Ill. Kennedy School for Exceptional children, Palos, Ill., Hinsdale, Oak Forest, Glenwood School for Boys; Downey, Manteno hospitals and Orland Convalescent Center. These candy bars were given by the school children of Tinley Park. The auxiliary wishes to acknowledge the fine cooperation of the schools.

Attendance at the recent card and bunco party and holiday demonstration of the Auxiliary was gratifying to the committees who produced these special financial endeavors, proceeds of which will be used for service work during the holidays.

Hostesses for the Auxiliary's meeting Nov. 22 were Erna Wallin, Anna Schoeneck and Dorothy Diekman.

The Dec. 13 meeting is planned as the annual Christmas party for the membership.

NEW MAJOR PARTY IN '60?

Considerable discussion is being given to the possible formation of a new major party to enter the political lists in 1960. The main leadership would come from conservative state's rights Democrats of the south, and Senator Russell of Georgia is often mentioned as a prospective standard bearer. Some think that such a party might carry sufficient states to prevent either of the established parties from winning an electoral college majority. In that event, the President would be chosen by the house of representatives. This has happened twice—in 1800 and in 1824.

Coming Events

Many Home Builders Use Fine Woods to Beautify Interiors

Wall decoration is no longer an intricate matter, according to leading home decorators.

Superficial ornamentation on walls is being discarded and handsome woods in different grains and paneling patterns now form the primary decorative element of a home.

Wood paneling has long been used in the great ancestral homes of American and Europe, but in this day and age you needn't be the owner of a manor house to have such distinctive woods as west coast hemlock grace your walls.

Hemlock long prized for its rich graining and lovely champagne coloring, is within the price range of most young homemakers, as are western red cedar and Douglas fir, two other fine woods.

Women Voters Will Present Skit Dec. 12

Members of the board and a few of the membership of the Tinley Park Provisional League of Women Voters are quite busy these days preparing an interesting program for the next membership meeting.

Hoping to help more women to understand the value of the league, a skit portraying its ideals and work will be presented to the melodies of Christmas carols, popular and folk song, at 8 pm. on Dec. 12, at the Municipal building.

The cast consists of Miss Ivy Jane Fullbrook, Mesdames John Rooney, John Szaton, William McBurney, Harry Dean, William Kopp, Ted Bell, Edward Balkar, William McLain, Martin Zimmerman, Allan Howie, Logan Ozburn, Edward Hutchinson and Garland Deinert.

The meeting is open to all women whether or not members of the league. Refreshments will be served.

Proceeds from the dance of last year were used to purchase a film projector with sound track. During the past year the students at Kirby school have benefited by many educational films. They hope to add to this equipment from proceeds of the Dec. 7 affair.

Nazarenes Surprise With 30-29 Win Over St. George Basketeers

STANDINGS	W	L
Methodist	4	0
St. George	2	2
Nazarene	1	3
Tinley Teens	1	3

The Nazarenes pulled the first big upset in the Tinley Park Church cage loop by defeating St. George 30-29. Thrilling, clutch shooting by Gary Bressi in the final minute brought the first victory for the 171st Streeters.

The Methodists continued unbeaten, having defeated the Tinley Teens by the score of 39-21. The Methodists mark, is now four victories.

With about a minute to play, the St. George team held a 29-26 lead over the Nazarenes. Gary Bressi scored four of his six points for the evening in the next seconds and the Nazarenes climbed out of the basement. The Rev. Dallas Mucci was high scorer for the game and the Nazarene team with 14. Cup led the Catholics with 13. Ron Galina, high scoring ace of St. George, had 10.

The Tinley Teens managed a 7-5 lead over the front running Methodists for the first eight minutes of the game, but an excellent team effort, with everyone scoring in the second period, thrust the Methodists ahead to stay, and on to an easy 39-21 verdict.

Tom Jeffers continued his assault on the basket with a total of 15 points. Jeffers has been in the double figures in all four of the Methodists wins. His scoring partner, Ken Webster, netted 10 and another fine night from the floor.

The Methodists win over the Teens was the first time in the young season that the game has not been decided within the three minutes. League play been close and exciting.

Sandburg Loses To Blue Island; Rich Next Foe

Sandburg's basketball squad which began the season with a smashing 67 to 28 victory over Lemont and then was nosed out by Bremen 66-63 the night before Thanksgiving, lost its second game last Saturday to Blue Island, 60-56.

Sandburg will go to Rich tomorrow night for its second conference tilt and on Saturday will take to the road again to play Plainfield in a non-league match. The Rockets of Rich, which has dominated basketball in the Southwest Suburban conference since that league was formed, is reportedly not so potent this year and followers of the game look for a new champion to be crowned.

The story of the Bremen-Sandburg game is told elsewhere in this issue. In the game against Blue Island the Eagles played good ball but were unfortunate to drop behind the Cardinals in the second period and that proved to be fatal. The Eagles had tough sledding again in the second half and Blue Island took a 10-point lead. The Sandburgs whittled away at this margin but just couldn't overcome it and when the final whistle blew the Eagles were down by four points, 60-56.

L-W, Bremen Score League Wins

Knights Blast Mustangs 53-39; Take Twin Bill

By FRED KIESLAR

The Lincoln-Way Knights pried the lid off the Southwest Suburban conference basketball season Wednesday night of last week, Nov. 27, with a 53 to 39 varsity victory over Evergreen Park. The Lincoln-Way frosh-sophs also won, 58 to 45.

In the opening period of the varsity game the Knights made six field goals and one free throw. The Lincolns were a bit too enthusiastic in their contacts the first quarter so that a number of fouls were called against them. The Mustangs took advantage of this and counted five points out of seven free throws attempted, plus three baskets from the floor.

In the second frame the Lincolns kept away from fouling pretty well. The Mustangs had only three chances to score via the free throw line and made good only on one. That with two buckets was the extent of the Mustangs' scoring in the second period. Lincoln-Way was busy, however, and connected with heaves for 14 points so that at five baskets and four charity half time the Knights led 27 to 16.

Tie for High Scoring

That second period gave the Knights an edge they were glad to have. In the third frame the Knights made 15 points while the Mustangs counted 14. In the final quarter the Knights were able to count only two baskets from the floor but made seven out of 10 free throw attempts for an 11-point total. The Mustangs connected on three out of seven free throws tried and also hit three baskets.

Ron Fredin was high point man for Lincoln-Way and Jim Hutchinson led the Evergreens. Each had 15 points.

In the frosh-soph contest the Lincolns outscored their rivals in the first three quarters, 10 to 7, 13 to 10 and 18 to 10 so it was 41 to 27 when the last quarter began. In the final period the Evergreens counted 18 times to 17 for the Lincolns, leaving the final score at 58-45, Lincoln-Way.

Frosh-Soph do Well

Tom Peterson, a sophomore, scored 29 of Lincoln-Ways total points. Top honors for Evergreen went to Jerry LaPorte with 16.

It was the third win in as many starts for the Lincoln-Way frosh-sophs. The varsity Knights have lost one game and won two. Two of the games played to date were with non-conference teams. The clash with Evergreen Park marked the conference opening for the two teams.

Tomorrow night Lincoln-Way teams will travel to Bremen for a twin bill, with the frosh-soph contest scheduled for 6:45 p.m. and the varsity game about 8:00. The Knights will be hosts to Crete-Monee in non-conference games Saturday night. The first game is set for 6:45 and the varsity encounter about 8 p.m.

Hartwig Mifflin Spark Braves To Beat Sandburg

The Bremen Braves, led by the sharpshooting Dale Hartwig, chalked up their second victory of the season, by beating Carl Sandburg, 66-63 in the Bremen gym.

Hartwig opened the scoring with back to back baskets, but Martin Hill, of Sandburg, evened the score on two fine jump shots.

Bremen led at the quarter 16-7 and held the advantage at the half, 38-29. Both teams played on even terms during the second quarter.

Sandburg opened the half with three consecutive baskets to draw within three points of Bremen. Each team traded basket for basket to the finish with Jerry O'Neill making a set shot to decide a fast and well played game.

Hartwig, of Bremen, led the scoring with 21 points, while Sandburg's Hill and Ford collected 19 and 16 respectively.

Bremen Frosh-Soph Win

In the curtain raiser, Bremen frosh-soph humbled their Sandburg opponent 52-25. Jim Mifflin, of Bremen, led the scoring with 19 points.

Bremen played host to Thornton Fractional in a non-conference game last Saturday night, and held the visitors to the tune of 58-40. Gary DuBois, led the Braves with 16 points, while Hartwig and Luke Smith, each collected 14.

Methodists Take Lead In Church Cage Circuit

A thrilling comeback by the Methodist gave them first place and left them with the only unblemished mark in the Tinley Park Church cage loop following the games Monday night. Trailing 15-8 at the end of the first quarter, the Methodist kept edging closer until the basket in the final seconds netted them a 49-47 victory over St. George.

The game displayed the best shooting thus far seen in the league and showed the season high for a winning and losing team.

Ron Gallina was too much for the Methodist five in the first quarter. His 11 point in that period gave the Catholics a 15 to 8 margin. After that the Methodist managed to put a damper on Gallina and came on to win.

Came on to Win

Again it was the one-two punch of Tom Jeffers and Ken Webster for the bulk of the Methodist scoring with 16 and 12 points respectively. Ron Gallina was high for the first game with 20 — highest individual mark in the season to date.

The Teen club broke a last place tie by beating the Nazarene 28-22, in the season's lowest scoring game of the year. It was the deadly jump shooting of Tom Ralson who accounted for over half of the Teen's 28 points, with a total of 16 for the game.

In the second quarter the Teens scored three points and the Nazarenes two on a lone basket.

With a minute and a half to go the Nazarenes moved the count to 24-22—just two points away, but the Teens counted with two quick baskets and iced the contest.

The league is proving to be one of grueling duels. In the six games played to date—every contest has been decided in the final period.

Rich Downed by Power and Speed of Downers Grove

Southwest suburbanites saw an exciting basketball game at Rich High school last Saturday night, when the Downers Grove high quintet handed the Rockets their first setback of the season, 67-48.

Only six points separated the two teams at half time, but Downers Grove started to pull away midway in the third period with a dazzling display of speed and power to overwhelm a good Rich team.

OUR FIRST 2 VOTES

As you know by now, I am not strictly a reporter. In fact, in private life, for all my 30 years, I have been a professional artist—designing music covers, story illustrations, exhibiting portraits, donating posters and banners for volunteer groups. I suppose it was this latter work which convinced me I should accept the offer to start a column for this newspaper.

For years in Chicago I worked with groups who struggled bravely to teach and to bring strangers closer together. Out here that need seems even more important, for we have none of the distractions a city offers to channel thoughts away from necessities. When the newspaper offered to hire me to begin this column, I was proud to learn I would have complete freedom to approach any subject I felt best spotlighted for our common good. And they have kept their promise to me.

Today I would like to launch off into an area where I sail on the power of my own opinion, completely. I wish to describe an experience I had and the after thoughts it left in my mind as your reporter—or more truly, your “news analyst.”

OFF WITH THE VEILS

This seems a queer thing to say? Well, I am referring, of course, to the “ancient” belief that women must remain veiled in public—and never, never share in man's public deeds.

Apparently this is not so forgotten a belief, as I was shocked to see when I entered the invited meeting of the Home Owner's association. There was not one woman in the room!

As I sat down, having arrived not as a reporter but as a legal home owner, I saw there were over 20 men seated in the room. Not one woman. As the meeting progressed, we were told that for this initial election of block representatives, each home was to receive two votes. Not one (for men alone) but 2 (for both men and wives.)

Yet—where were the wives?

This puzzle seemed to me to have three answers: 1. Invitation cards had been addressed solely to “Mr.” home owners. 2. Men felt this invitation more or less compelled their own attendance. 3. Wives did not desire to appear at what seemed a legal business meeting (especially uninvited!)

The above three reasons had not the slightest dampening effect on me, as I have worked, with school groups, political groups, and social groups before composed chiefly of progressive men. My experience has trained me to overlook the legal oversight of “Mr.” and “Man” in written documents.

4 HOUR CITIZENS

Why was I there?

Personally and privately, my husband requested that I attend as our home's voter as his working hours throughout the winter months keep him away from home far too much to even see changes made in our surrounding territory. Often he comes home near midnight. There will be weekends when he must return to his city studio. Other weekends his overdrained energy must be refreshed by complete rest. Therefore, our logical reaction was: The wife should be the representative.

As I studied the men present at the voting, I discovered a great many of my own neighbors were absent. In fact—I didn't know one face at that meeting. And as the meeting moved on to having each person introduce himself and state his wish to serve—or not to serve—I discovered about one-half of the men had no time for any service, either. Exactly like my own husband.

I must hurry to state right here that I was elected as the second representative from that group of home owners. So, for my own sake, there is nothing to regret.

But what I regret is that more WOMEN did not attend that voting. Husbands are, in general, 4-hour citizens, are they not? They drive out to their jobs just as they did in any other home location.

Their daily routine is hardly changed one whit—especially during early darkness of winter. They come home for supper (if they're lucky), spend a few hours in the living room, and go to bed.

Which citizen is maintaining the lawns during the day, answering questions at the door, watching construction and changes, worrying over the safety of small children? It is the woman.

The woman's entire life is turned upside down by being stranded out here in a brand new country location. It is the woman who most wants a police force, a shopping center, law and order. Therefore, it is the woman's vote which is most vital.

Since we all have the right to vote again in one year for block representatives, the situation is promising of course.

It's just that I hope by next year the invitations to our first voting body will be addressed “Mr. and Mrs.” I have great hopes for the Home Owner's association. Perhaps I even visualize too much scope for it to assure us women Law and Order! This I will learn when it begins its earnest work in January.

FOR HE'S A JOLLY GOOD FELLOW!

Richard Harding, who has served on the Coopers Grove school board for 5½ years is now moving out of the school district and must resign his post. The 3-man board will certainly miss him.

The law states that the two men remaining on the board may select the replacement for a vacancy, if done within 30 days. Not only the two members remaining—but even the retiring member—agreed to select Ray Bergmann as their third man until April.

Mr. Bergmann has proved his devotion to public good by his months of hard work during the past year, often with the Citizens committee, and recently with the amazingly successful fund drive sales connected with the Hard Times dance. We wish Mr. Bergman good luck in his new post.

Public elections for a new and larger board take place in April.

WELL, OFFICER—

If you have noticed those attractive vehicle tags some cars carried on their windshields last year identifying them as being from Country Club Hills—you will be happy to hear they will once again be given to us by Bill Schomburg. These are most attractive tags with our village name and identifying number only on the front. They are in the shape of a small shield.

Mr. Schomburg is an insurance man who moved into one of the first blocks of the village last year—along with his wife and seven children! (So far I've not met anybody to out shine him in that mathematical department.) He realized the need for local identification for men who must drive into the city every day to work. So, he had these printed to distribute freely to his neighbors out here as a form of advertising his services. His business phone and address are discreetly printed on the back of the tags in small print.

You may call Mr. Schomburg at SY 8-5399 for your free tag. This is a gift well worth requesting.

Want To Join The Scouts?

Anyone may attend pack meetings with a friend who is now a member of Cub Scouts. But soon the Girl Scouts will be organized and then Boy Scouts.

Enlarged plans were thus discussed at an official meeting at the home of Carl Timmerman, Institutional representative. Bob Senecal was therefore elected new membership chairman for Scout activities in Country Club Hills. All questions about Scouting membership will be answered by Mr. Senecal if you call him at KE 2-2329.

CLANG! CLANG!

When is our Fire Engine coming? The men in the Volunteer Fire department are on pins and needles. The order is already in and delivery might be any day now. Our own fire engine. Just think of it!

The fire house for the engine already has its concrete base and the framework is going up this week. It is beside the pumping station at 182nd and Patrick.

SWEET MUSIC

Ann McCoy is the talented and courageous woman who has organized our first children's music group. She is starting Saturday rehearsals for the Country Club Hills Christian church, ages six and upwards. Ann graduated from Baldwin college, as a music major, in Staunton, Va. She has taught music in public schools in the East and now brings this experience to help young children here learn the joy of musical expression.

She is beginning with choir rehearsals for 45 minutes every Saturday. For information, call SY 8-9380.

Christmas At The Museum

For the benefit of those who have only pre-school children and did not receive the printed announcements in lunch boxes, I'd like to recommend an afternoon at the Museum of Science as an exciting adventure for next Saturday or Sunday.

Saturday they will present a pageant of Christmas in France. On Sunday it will be Christmas in Mexico. These shows (free of charge) are for children and parents at 2:00, 2:30, and 5:00 in the afternoon. National dinners can then be bought from 5:30 to 8:30 p. m. Such an outing would be high excitement for the three-to-six year olds, every bit as much as school-agers BRIGHTER NOW!

Where are those other veranda lights?

I still see a few black house-fronts, inviting who-knows-what all? when the owners are away after dark. Some blocks are blazing like Christmas trees..... it's wonderful to turn into them after coming in off the black highway.

In fact, it's wise public relations to light up our little huddled village in the dark plain. What a happy sight to motorists driving past every night. Pretty soon..... we'll be famous!

Any news? Call me at SY 8-5669. (Rusty Wilson) I have copies of issues in my home at 17925 S. John avenue. Til next week then Board Studies Division Of Assets In Forming New High School Dist.

A delay in the audit of the cash assets and liabilities of the school districts involved in the establishment of the new Homewood-Flossmoor high school district, was announced by a representative of the auditing firm of Price Waterhouse & Co., last week.

A series of circumstances, it was stated, has delayed the study at Bloom and Thornton township high school districts.

An agreement between the Bremen high school, the third district involved in the negotiations, and the Homewood-Flossmoor district, was reached several months ago when Bremen agreed to accept 16 Homewood-Flossmoor students tuition free for two years as its share toward establishment of the new school.

Question Bloom

At the county board meeting last week, the Bloom district was questioned about the request for $450,000 deduction from the appraisal of its land and buildings.

Under stipulations made last winter, Homewood-Flossmoor would receive 20.9 per cent of a 3.7 million dollar bond issue passed in 1954 in Bloom township, in addition to a share of the appraised value of the land and buildings.

Bloom officials contend $450,000 of the bond issue was spent to remodel the school's cafeteria into classrooms. Consequently, Bloom said the new school district would receive a portion of the 3.7 million dollars, and a part of the same money used for improvements.

Because of the delay, approval of the division of assets cannot be made before the next meeting of the county board on Jan. 6.

Thornton Agreement

An agreement with the Thornton Township High School district 205, and the new district, was reached at a meeting last week of the county board of school trustees, whereby the Homewood-Flossmoor district would receive 7 1/4 per cent, or $259,644.32, of the $3,381,301 value set on the Thornton plant and land. Equipment and other facilities were set at $200,000.

According to Dr. William Woodworth, superintendent of the new district, construction of the school is expected to begin in May or early June 1958 and the opening date is slated for September, 1959.

The Lincoln Log

CHRISTMAS IN MEXICO

Spanish classes at Lincoln-Way will have the opportunity to see how Christmas is celebrated in Mexico when they journey to the Museum of Science and Industry on Dec. 8.

Each year, starting immediately before Thanksgiving and continuing until Christmas week, the museum presents a different country's Christmas festivities each day. These hour long pageants called "Christmas Around the World" depict the customs observed in the various countries.

Orphanage Christmas Party

Plans are now underway for a Christmas party the G.A.A. members hope to give at one of the orphanages in Joliet. Each member will have a child as her own for the party. Santa Claus will put in a n appearance and distribute presents.

The annual sweatshirt and doll sale has just been concluded and high sweatshirt salesmen were Donna Heinecke and Raydene Cook who were awarded a doll as their prize. High salesmen for the doll sales were Willa Schroeder and Lois Fee. They, too, received a doll of their choice.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS

Five girls of the Lincoln-Way Chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America, attended the State Officers' meeting at the University of Illinois, Nov. 9. The girls were Christina Barnes, Ann Hobbs, Stella Daugherty, Janice Reimers, and Vivienne Eisenbrandt. The girls saw demonstrations of the different business machines.

The officers attended a meeting discussing parliamentary procedure, club dues and projects for the year. They also took a tour of the campus and had a fine dinner.

Soderlund Winner

The second annual "I Speak For Democracy" contest was held at Lincoln-Way, Dec. 2 in the school gym. With the student body as his audience, Ken Soderlund gave his "I Speak For Democracy" speech and judged the winner.

The judges, Miss Theresa Hartman, Mrs. Jane Sullivan, and John Oster had a difficult decision to make, but were asked to base their selection on the percentages—content, 40%; delivery, 40%; and originality 20%.

The other contestants were Judy Christensen, Ken Weber, Helen Sheridan, and Garrett White. Acting as sponsors of the contest were Richard Chisholm, a member of the Chicago Motor club, Joliet branch, and Frank Tucker from the Joliet Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Tucker presented the trophy, which was acquired in 1956 by Jeanne Schiek for winning the contest. Each year the name of the winner will be engraved on the plaque. The county contest will be held in Joliet at the Elks on Wednesday, Dec. 4.

Issue Income Tax Guide for Farmers

The 1957 edition of the "Farmers' Tax Guide" will be available to the public during the month of December, announces Russell C. Harrington, commissioner of internal revenue, U. S. treasury dept.

The Guide, written especially for farmers, explains in plain, non-technical language, most of the income tax rules which concern them. The many examples used show how the rules apply in actual situations. Sample records and filled in tax returns forms are included in the booklet.

It may be obtained free of charge from the local internal revenue offices and from county agents.

Allen Hentsch, 15, Is Winner in Corn Growing Contest

Allen Hentsch, 15, of 191st st., east of Mokena, a sophomore at Lincoln-Way high school made the highest corn yield in this section of the state in a contest conducted by a seed company.

Allen made his highest yield of 178.3 bushels per acre. This was the top yield in FFA section 10 which includes Kankakee and Iroquois counties. There were 11 high school and 93 boys entered in the contest in FFA section 10 this year.

At the time the corn weights were taken, a moisture test was also made so that this fine yield was figured on the basis of No. 2 corn with 15% moisture content. The weighed yield test was made under the supervision of Robert Van Rheeden, the agriculture teacher at the Lincoln-Way high school. Allen was given a cash award of $25 for making the highest yield in his FFA section.

"My father and I selected a small field that up until two years ago had been a permanent pasture," Allen recounted. "This field was close to our dairy barn and had received a lot of manure thru the years. A crop of wheat had been grown on this previous to the corn crop."

"I plowed this field in the fall of 1956. Last spring I spread 300 pounds of 11-48-0, per acre before disking. I made complete soil tests during the winter which showed a definite need for phosphorus but no extra potash was needed. It also showed a need for three tons of limestone per acre which was applied during the winter."

"Due to an extremely wet spring, we were not able to plant until June 6. At planting time, I applied 200 pounds more of 11-48-0 as a starter fertilizer. The seed was hill dropped at a rate of two kernels every 12 inches."

"I cultivated the corn two times and after the first cultivation added 80 pounds of nitrogen in the form of anhydrous ammonia. Later in the summer, my father, brothers and myself hand-hoed most of the remaining weeds."

See Deer In New Lenox Field

As Mrs. Adella Sproat of Maple road, New Lenox township, glanced out her kitchen window last Wednesday morning, to her great surprise she saw a young deer running in her corn field. When it came to the highway, U. S. 6, it stopped, then jumped over the fence and continued on its happy way. Nothing has been heard of it since.

The port side of a boat is the left side, as one faces from stern to bow.

Reserve Champion At 4-H International From Powers Farm

The reserve grand champion steer shown in the 4H division of the 58th International stow show at Chicago this week came from the Ray Powers farm, Mokena.

The animal, an Aberdeen-Angus, was exhibited by Max Woebeking, 19, of Woodburn, Ind. It was born on the Powers farm May 30, 1956, and was sold to Woebeking last Dec. 8 in the course of Chicagoland Calf club sale conducted at St. Charles.

The calf was a son of Pride Eric M. F. Two other sons of the same sire finished second and third.

Woebeking's reserve grand champion, which tips the scale at a thousand pounds, is called Model's Pride, and was also selected by the judges as the best of the Angus breed shown.

All of this pleases Mr. Powers as well as Roy Kopp, who operates the farm.

GOOD NEWS

U. S. News & World Report recently ran a feature article on the present state of retail trade and the prospects for the future. At the end it said: "The coming season . . . is to be a time when the consumer is being wooed eagerly, when goods of all types are plentiful and prices are being held close to last year's level. Those are conditions that usually encourage people to spend freely, so long as their incomes hold up."

"People, so far, are responding by increasing their purchases to record levels. While the increase is slowing down and may be ending, the high level of sales is expected to continue thru the foreseeable future. That is good news for businessmen everywhere."

Those are interesting paragraphs, and contain more meat than may be apparent at first glance. Take, for instance, that phrase about the consumer being "wooed eagerly". This is true—and the reason it is true is that retailing is a free, competitive enterprise, in which success goes to those who please the public best. And that wooing takes many forms—better service, wider stocks of goods on display, more effective advertising, and lower prices than would otherwise be in effect.

The second paragraph of the quotation from U. S. News also is significant. It shows, by implication, just how outstandingly important retailing is to the economy as a whole—to everyone who lives and works in the United States. The greatest productive system on earth would wither on the vine without a system of distribution to match. Mass production and mass distribution, in sum, are full partners of equal standing.

NOT LOUD ENOUGH

Sylvia Porter, the syndicated writer on economic affairs, recalls that during this year's congressional session . . . you, the American public, demanded cut in federal spending in the loudest voice you've used in modern times."

Just what results did this public clamor obtain? Miss Porter provides an answer to that question, based on information from the factual and authoritative Congressional Quarterly. There were 66 roll call votes directly affecting federal spending. Moves for economy were backed in only one-third of these votes—22 out of 66.

As for the future, Miss Porter takes a pessimistic view. She thinks the chances are that government spending in general—aside from defense allocations—is likely to rise.

Recent events, obviously, have made a bad matter worse. There is a definite probability that two or three additional billions will be needed for a stepped-up missile program. Other military spending may also be increased. Congressional leaders have said that the money can be obtained by paring non-defense spending. But will it—or will it be piled on top of an already swollen budget?

The public voice demanding economy was loud earlier this year. But it is going to have to become far louder still if it is to get it answer it wants.

J. Cameron Thomson of the committee for conomic development suggests six pragmatic tests to apply to every demand for new or increased federal expenditures. Here they are: need?

1. Does the request fill a real need?
2. Is it a need which only government can supply?
3. Must the need be met by the federal government?
4. Will spending by the federal government meet the need to a degree to make it worthwhile?

5. If it is an extension of an existing program, has the spending on this program been efficient?

6. Must the spending be done now?

If those tests were applied, and the honest answers firmly acted upon we'd see a startling drop in the federal budget.

SCOUT NEWS

CUB PACK 253

The November theme for Cub Pack 253 was "Cub Scout Achievement Show", and a fine display of achievements and electives was presented when the pack met Friday evening. The parents participated by answering questions relating to cub scout requirements and those not being able to answer donned a dunce cap and sat in the corner. Mr. W. Bleydorn of the General Electric Company showed a movie entitled "Pipe line to the Clouds" which showed how our water supply is obtained.

Bob Simenson, Jr. received his year pin, and John and William Ging received their second year pins. Thomas Rains was welcomed into the pack as Chief Akela presented him with a Bob cat badge. Other awards presented were: Douglas Gibbons, Lion badge and Gold Arrow; Michael Carr, Lion badge; Frank Craft, Gold and Silver Arrow.

Michael Carr, having become 11 years old, graduated from cubbing to scouting. He received a graduation certificate and the Boy Scout hand book. On hand to welcome him into Troop 255 was Mr. Jack Redman Neighborhood Scout Commissioner. The theme for December is Happy Holiday. The boys will be caroling to add to the holiday spirit.

Death Claims Melvin Mackey

Melvin Mackey, 37, of 17753 66th court, Tinley Park, died Nov. 28, in the Veterans Research hospital, Chicago, following a lingering illness.

Mr. Mackey was born Nov. 27, 1920, in Chicago. He lived at Tinley Park for the past three years.

He is survived by his wife, Corinne; his mother, Mrs. Ella Mackey, of Chicago; also one sister, Mrs. Helen Potempa, of Chicago; and four brothers: Paul, of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Charles E., Stanley, and Robert, of Chicago. He was preceded in death by his father, Theodore in 1956.

Funeral services were held Sunday, Dec. 1, in the Hirsch Chapel, officiated by the Rev. Richard Kirkland, pastor of the Church of Christ. Burial was in the Tinley Park Memorial cemetery.

Mr. Mackey was a decorator. He was a member of the Bremen Post 2791 V.F.W.

Hearing Society To Hold Christmas Bazaar Tomorrow

The Chicago Hearing Society will hold a Yuletide bazaar tomorrow, Dec. 6, in the rooms of the society, 30 West Washington st., from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

What makes this bazaar different is the fact that the deaf and hard of hearing members of the Chicago Hearing Society themselves assume primary responsibility for this annual event.

Mrs. O. O. Mueller, 15633 S. LeClaire, Oak Forest, is co-chairman of the bazaar committee.

Articles for sale include handmade party and utility aprons, homemade jams, jellies, cakes and cookies, and a wide assortment of gift items.

Proceeds will be used to help defray the costs of the Society's services, which include lip reading classes, recreational programs for deaf and hard of hearing children and adults, and hearing aid consultation.

The Chicago Hearing Society is the only voluntary organization in the Chicago area devoted solely to work in the hearing field.

Get Figures On Yule Seal Sale

As of Friday, Nov. 29, the Christmas Seal sale returns for all of Will county, amounted to $12,062.15, according to the Tuberculosis Association.

Frankfort township returned $350; New Lenox $316.25; and Green Garden, $41.80.

The campaign which is lagging by $1,500 behind last year, extends thru the holiday season and ends officially March 31, 1958. The promotional part of the campaign lasts until after Christmas. It is during this time that the bulk of the returns are received, officials state.

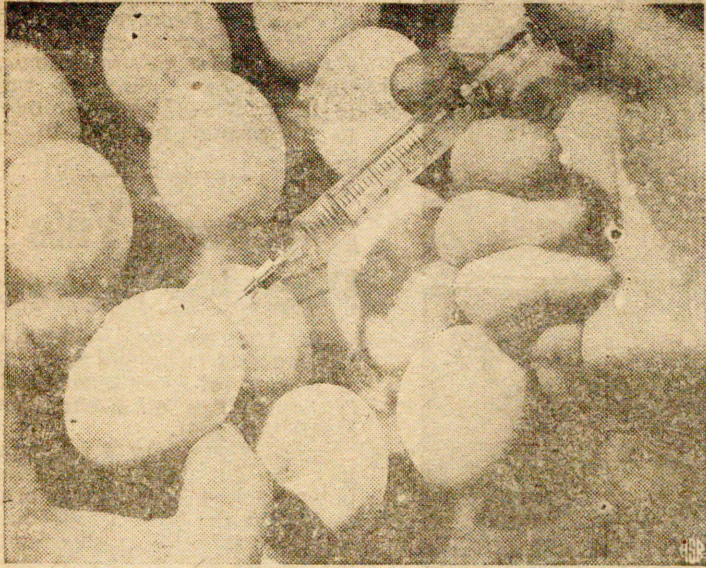

This year the board set a budgetary requirement of $42,000. This is higher than last year due to additions to the staff and the general increase in commodity costs. To carry out the proposed program of health education, research, case finding and rehabilitation, this amount should be attained, authorities assert.

Another phase of the campaign got underway last weekend. Coin containers were distributed throughout the county. This was done by the area chairman listed on the letter received with the seals. These coin containers are placed in taverns, cocktail lounges, and package stores for the benefit of the people who may not have received Christmas seals by mail, but want to be a part of the fight against tuberculosis.

Safer Rabies Vaccine Developed

Fertile duck eggs are injected with live rabies virus in the first step of rabies vaccine production. The rabies virus grows in the duck embryo, and is later killed to make the vaccine.

A safer agent for protecting against the dread disease of rabies is now available. The development of the new vaccine, made in fertile duck eggs, has been termed the greatest improvement in human rabies prevention since Louis Pasteur made the first vaccine in 1885.

The new vaccine is the result of seven year's research in the laboratories of Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Improved rabies vaccine is especially important to rural people who not only contend with rabid dogs, but sometimes with wild animals and livestock infected with rabies.

Up to now, rabies vaccine has been produced in rabbit brains. Brain tissue contains a "paralytic factor" that sometimes has caused paralysis and death during rabies treatment. The new vaccine is safer because it doesn't contain any of this "paralytic factor."

When a person is bitten by a rabid animal, it usually takes at least fifteen days for the rabies virus to go to work. The new vaccine causes the person under treatment to build up antibodies rapidly, usually by the tenth day. These antibodies protect the victim against rabies, which is always fatal after it develops.

Duck embryo vaccine is made by injecting live rabies virus into duck eggs that are seven days fertile. The eggs are incubated fourteen days, the embryo is then taken from the egg, and the liquid separated from the solids. The liquid portion, containing live rabies virus, is then killed chemically to make the vaccine.

Public Health Endangered From Rapid Spread Of T. B. In Jet Age

The possible rapid spread of tuberculosis in the jet age was brought sharply to the attention of Chicago area industrial and health leaders attending the annual "Tuberculosis in Industry" meeting last week at the Hotel Sherman.

Lemuel B. Hunter, assistant to the president of Inland Steel, and Dr. James E. Perkins, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, New York, both emphasized that the man on the street in Rogers Park or Oak Park or Homewood faces the problem of tuberculosis as it is known in Puerto Rico or Hong Kong, as well as in the area around the Loop.

Dr. Perkins reported that tuberculosis causes 50 per cent of deaths from infectious or parasitic disease throughout the world. This is the figure issued by the World Health Organization at Geneva, Switzerland.

"As Chicago expands its already tremendous air port facilities and becomes a true seaport thru the St. Lawrence seaway, the city will have more intimate contact with other countries thruout the world than it has ever had in the past. These more numerous and intimate contacts have grave implications with regard to the public health," said Dr. Perkins.

He cited the example of the quick spread of Asian Flu this year as contrasted with its much slower spread during World War I. He attributes this rapid spread of the disease to vastly improved means of transportation and communication among all the countries of the world.

Hunter said that Chicago now includes all suburban areas as an integral part of the city. The ever-increasing rapid out-migration to suburban areas and the tremendous in-migration of ethnic groups with an entirely different cultural background to the most densely populated area of the city and new aspects to the problem of Chicago's rising population. The University of Chicago's Community Inventory estimates a total population of 6.8 million or possibly 7 million by 1965.

"In-migrants from the Southern states and Puerto Rico often appear in the community with large families and more frequently without adequate financial resource," he said. "Little advance consideration has been given to housing, economic planning or even whether or not specific jobs are available."

Tuberculosis and other disease are most prevalent in the densely-populated ring around the Loop where half of the newcomers to the city find shelter, said Hunter. The balance of the newcomers seek shelter in the 30-minute radius.

And as the newcomers move into the area, older residents move toward the fringes and finally to the suburbs.

"The health status of the newcomer is problematic," stated Hunter. "We have no way of knowing his actual physical condition or that of his family. New tensions, crowding, change of diet and living habits are not at all conducive to good health, but promote disease."

"The Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium and its out-patient clinics already have indication that tuberculosis among the newcomers is of major concern. Tuberculosis can only be found in this group after serious illness is reported or after the individuals are picked up thru industrial or community x-ray surveys."

He added that the Cook County hospital also reports thru their admission x-ray program that the newcomer has a far greater rate of tuberculosis than that of the average hospital admission.

Sponsoring the conference on tuberculosis were The Tuberculosis Institute, which is currently in the midst of its 1957 Christmas Seal Sale, and the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Funds raised thru the annual Christmas Seal Sale, which began last week when seals were mailed to over a million residents of Cook county, are used to support the TB control program in Chicagoland.

The program includes free chest x-raying, rehabilitation, health education and research among new as well as established residents of Chicago and suburbs.

Church Services for Christmas Edition Must be in Dec. 11

The outline of the special services that will mark Christmas in the churches of the area must be in early if they are to be carried in the Christmas issue of this newspaper.

With Christmas falling on a Wednesday this year we are presented with a problem. Ordinarily we publish Wednesday evening so the paper is delivered on Thursday. The post office will be closed on Christmas day so if we were to get out our Christmas edition Christmas week we would have to publish on Monday, Dec. 23. To do that would place too much of a strain on the facilities of the news and mechanical departments. Therefore, our Christmas edition will come out the week previous, Dec. 19.

It is in this edition that we will carry the Christmas greetings the business and commercial firms who advertise with us extend to their friends and customers. It is also in the Christmas edition that we carry the news of the holiday plans of the residents of the various communities. It is also in the Christmas edition that we carry the schedule of church services planned for celebration of the birthday of the Founder of all Christian churches.

The outline of these services must be in our office by Wednesday evening of next week, Dec. 11. We do not want detailed program listing scripture readings, songs and names of participants in pageants and Sunday school programs because of lack of time and space. We regret that this is so. We require only a general outline of the Christmas services and again we remind those responsible that they must be in our office not later than Dec. 11.

Our New Year's edition will be published Dec. 26.

Engineers Form Group In South Cook County

The headquarters building of the South Cook County Mosquito Abatement District, 155th and Dixie Highway, will be the first meeting place of the newly organized South Cook County Chapter of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers on Tuesday night, Dec. 10, at 8 p. m., according to announcement today by A. J. Boulahanis, chairman of the newly organized group and engineer to the South Cook Mosquito Abatement District.

The purpose of this chapter, according to Boulahanis, is to enable all the professional engineers who reside in the southern half of the County of Cook to participate in the activities of the society by providing a meeting place convenient to their heavy schedules and their homes.

Tuesday's meeting will center on two topics: "Career Satisfaction of Professional Engineers in Industry," presented by Mr. Linas Brown, Vice President of the Chicago Chapter, and "Engineering Aspects of the Current Development in the South Cook County Area," a panel discussion.

Invitations to this meeting have gone to all members of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers residing in this area and it is hoped that the formation of this new chapter will stimulate interest in and cooperative efforts in behalf of common problems.

Following the general discussion at this first meeting, refreshments will be served.

No. Ill. Gas Co. Honors Workers For Saving Life

Northern Illinois Gas Co. honored three employees last week whose quick thinking and prompt action saved a human life.

The President's Award for the Saving of Human Life, was presented at the utility's annual management conference by company president Marvin Chandler. Recipients of the Award were Ray Cload, Douglas Dunn, and Albert Perna, of Bellwood.

Thru the efforts of these three men, a track laborer, whose clothing was ablaze, was saved.

The trio of gas company employees saw the man along the right of way of the Chicago & Great Western R.R., as they were driving home. They threw the man to the ground, tore off most of his outer clothing and smothered the remaining flames with their own jackets.

The laborer, who received multiple second and third degree burns, accidentally had been sprayed by kerosene from a faulty container.

Eight Northern Illinois Gas employees have received the special award established by the utility's board of directors in 1955 to "recognize individual heroism, presence of mind and prompt action of employees resulting in the saving of human life."

Court Approves Rich Drainage Dist. Assessment

(CNS) A $1,400 assessment to cover the cost of repairing, maintaining and operating the town of Rich's Drainage District No. 2 was approved by Acting County Judge Charles Kinney.

A petition for the assessment claimed the district had $101.60 on hand as of Oct. 28 with no money having been collected nor any bonds or notes, outstanding as of the last financial report.

The petition filed by attorney John Verklan said the district has one main open ditch, two 15 inch tile lines, and one 24 inch tile line.

Commissioners Emil Harms, of Tinley Park and Ernst Hoyer and William Kampe, both of Matteson, asked court authority to level the assessment as the district does not have sufficient funds to operate the system for next year.

MOKENA LIONS—

The Mokena planning committee, Fred Lehmann, president of the Mokena Lions joined with Mr. Swanberg in urging the cake vendors to speed their sales. The goal is 500 cakes. There was no homecoming this year and the Lions have had to rely on other money raising ventures to supply funds for various endeavors.

The Mokena Community park is in need of playground equipment and the Lions are trying to raise the money for it. That is why the cake sale is being held.

Mr. Lehmann pointed out that the club's custom of distributing small gifts and candy among the Mokena school children will be discontinued this year. The club has scheduled a windshield wash to raise money for this purpose but the weather has been against such a project. The result is no money, and therefore, no gifts.

spare time as is possible. Mrs. Boleman and her daughter Patricia, and with some part time aid by Mrs. Geisler, will continue to operate the store until Mr. Geisler can devote all of his time to it.

The Boleman family has operated the store for the past 10 years. Mrs. Boleman and her daughters will move from the apartment attached to the store about Dec. 15 and the Geislers will occupy the premises. The Bolemans will move to the home they own on Front street, west of Wolf road.

The new owner is a graduate of the University of Iowa and has been a pharmacist for the past 35 years, during which time he estimates that he has filled a quarter of a million prescriptions. At one time he owned two stores at Davenport, Iowa and later was associated with the Jaffe drug firm at Kankakee for eight years.

Mr. Geisler said he plans to add package ice cream, newspapers and periodicals and such other commodities that the trade may demand. The Geislers have three young sons.

CROP Program Collects 4,021 Bushels Of Corn

The Will County CROP canvass conducted Nov. 19 exceeded its goal with a total collection of 4,021 bushels of corn, according to canvass chairman, Glen Shippy of Peotone. The goal of the canvass was 4,000 bushels.

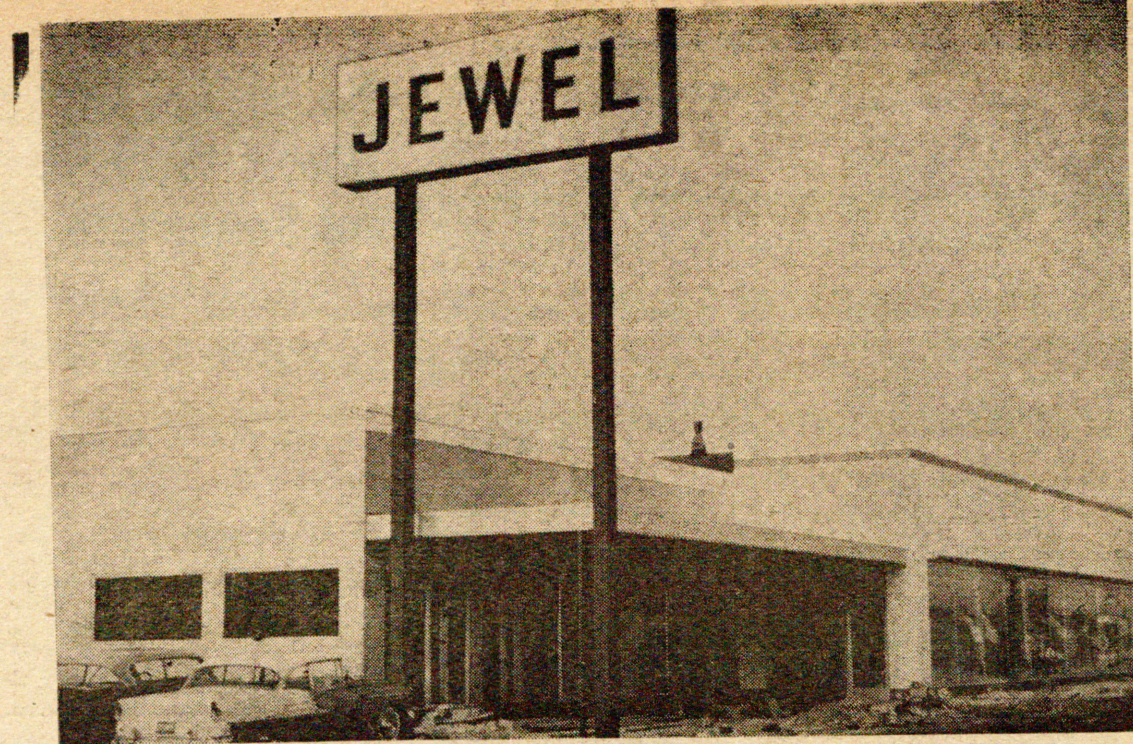

Results of the one day canvass were: 1915 bushel of corn, 39.8 bushel of soybeans and $2016.31 in cash contributions. William Polley, chairman of the Will County CROP board, noted that a cash evaluation of $1 per bushel for corn and $2.25 per bushel for beans had been established by the board for church credit stubs. The 4,021 bushel total is derived by using these evaluations to convert cash contributions and soybeans to bushels of corn.

This year's canvass netted more than three times the amount collected in Will County during the 1956 canvass, Mr. Polley said.

Two carloads of CROP corn have been shipped from the county. One 1500 bushel car was shipped from the Peotone Grain Elevator Nov. 21. The second, a 2,000 bushel car, was shipped from the Tyler Grain Co. in Elwood Nov. 26. The corn was shipped to Staley's Corn Products Inc., Decatur, where it is processed into corn oil or corn syrup and readied for shipment overseas.

A cash balance of $796 will be sent to the national CROP office at Elkhart, Ind., where it will be allocated for transportation and distribution costs of government surplus foods.

Variety Marks New Rates For Auto Insurance

The increase in auto insurance rates approved by Joseph S. Gerber, Illinois insurance director, is effective now for any new business written or for renewals. There will be no increase, of course, on policies now in force but when they expire the new and higher premiums will prevail.

In the meantime insurance agencies serving suburban car owners find themselves in a mess of paper work.

Some of the Chicago suburbs and downstate counties are divided into different classifications and that plus the fact there are six rate categories based on the age of the driver, and the use of the car, keeps them busy figuring rates.

There are also geographic classifications based on history of accidents. Also there are different type of policies, based on the coverage and the amount of insurance desired.

The unmarried male who is not yet 25 years old pays top premiums on property damage, public liability and collision. If he is married he gets by a little cheaper on auto insurance but not too much.

Can Recover More

Last July the legislature upped the maximum amount to be recovered in court in a death case, to $30,000. Prior to that it had been $20,000 for a number of years and before that it had been $10,000 for many, many years.

Cook county juries have always been more generous in fixing amounts for deaths or injuries growing out of accidents than have those in other counties. Now the verdicts in personal injury cases are growing everywhere and so are insurance premiums.

The standard policy formerly was $5,000 for property damage and $10,000 for public liability. It is on this 5 and 10 bracket that basic rates are fixed, but they don't mean very much because policies recommended today are for $30,000 and $70,000.

Will county is divided into three separate geographic territories, "Chicago suburbs", of which Steger is the only one listed; Joliet, which has its own rate and includes the townships of DuPage, Lockport, Homer, Frankfort, New Lenox, Troy, Plainfield and Wheatland and that part now in either of the two groups mentioned Green Garden and Manhattan are in this third group.

Auto owners in the Chicago suburbs of Will county formerly paid basic rates of $27 and 16 and the new rates will be $35 and 18. The Joliet rate was $20 and $15 and will now be $24 and $16, and in the third group

Europe, the Near East and the Orient. Distribution is made through existing missionary enterprises of the participating denominations in the area of need the rates were $17 and $13 and now will be $21 and $15.

Explains Reasons

All of these examples are for drivers who have 5 and 10 coverage, are more than 25 years of age and do not use their cars for business or for driving to and from work.

Persons who use their cars to reach their place of employment pay one rate if they cover less than 10 miles in the process and more if the distance is over 10 miles. Farmers, it should be added, get a special rate.

One insurance representative explained the age and driving habit differential this way:

"Age groups which have demonstrated that they are better drivers, on the average, should not have to pay for the accidents that other age groups get into. Youngsters under 25 just have more accidents, on the average. A motorist who uses his car to take his family to the movies shouldn't have to pay as high a premium as the man who drives his car to work through heavy, rush hour traffic."

The immediate suburbs of Chicago got increases of 30.5 per cent for injury insurance and 14.3 per cent property damage while in the rest of Cook county the liability rate climbed 41.5 per cent and property damage 17.6 per cent.

An Oak Lawn car dealer has filed suit in Circuit court to rescind the increases.

Not immediately answered was whether suburbs contiguous to other that border Chicago are included in the "immediate" classification, such as Wilmette to Evanston, Morton Grove to Niles, Des Plaines to Park Ridge, Berwyn to Cicero, or Harvey to Riverdale.

Announces Yule Plans For Mokena

The Mokena Civic association announces it will undertake the trimming of the Community Christmas tree on Front street, again this year.

As a community service project, the Girl Scout troops are being asked to make ornaments for the tree as they have in past years. The tree committee would like to have these contributions brought to the home of Harold Behen, North Woodland circle by Friday, December 13, in order that the tree may be trimmed the following day.

A Home Christmas Decoration contest will be held for which first, second and third prizes will be awarded. Further details of the contest will be announced later.

Community Christmas carol singing will take place around the tree, Monday evening, Dec. 23 at 8 pm., following which gifts will be presented to the children.

"Bat" Masterson, Famous Sheriff At Dodge City, Was Illinois Boy

By JOHN W. ALLEN (Southern Illinois University)

A roster of noted gunmen and peace officers of the old West would be incomplete without the name of William Barclay "Bat" Masterson, an Illinois boy who emigrated with his family to the vicinity of Wichita, Kansas, in 1871. Altho volumes have been written about Masterson's exploits after his arrival in Kansas, little is told of his Illinois boyhood.

"Bat" was born in Illinois on Nov. 23, 1851. One biographer says this occurred in Iroquois county. Local legend and tradition among kinsmen would have him born south of Ellery in Edwards county, where a number of descendants from an early Masterson family yet reside.

In the fall of their first year in Kansas, "Bat" and a brother joined a party going to Fort Dodge to hunt buffalo. Thus began the long and checkered career of one of the West's most colorful characters. For the next thirty-one years he was a prominent figure in the roaring West.

Pen Supplanted Pistol

Masterson was by turn, buffalo hunter, railroad contractor, Indian fighter, scout and messenger for General Miles, teamster and bull whacker, town marshall, sheriff of Ford county, professional gambler, prankster, faro dealer, and, along with Wyatt Earp, a deacon in the Rev. Wright's Union church. This was before 1902, when "Bat" left a somewhat subdued West and went to New York City to spend his remaining nineteen years as a writer and sports editor with the Morning Telegraph.

After his first venture as a buffalo hunter, Masterson returned to Dodge City, where he and a partner took a sub-contract to grade a mile of roadway for the Atchison-Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. The mile that they graded was the first one extending west from the military reservation. It was along this mile that Front Street, for many years one of the most noted in America, grew up. The general contractor from whom "Bat" and his partner had taken the sub-contract neglected to pay them. Later, "Bat" unceremoniously hauled him off a passing train and collected in full at the point of a revolver.

At Dobe Walls

In 1874 Masterson was a Adobe Walls, a trading post in the northern end of the Texas panhandle, when several hundred Indians made an unsuccessful attack upon 26 traders and hunters gathered there. As one of its spirited defenders, "Bat" was commended for his coolness and bravery. He next became a scout and messenger for Gen. Miles. Finishing this, he returned to Dodge City and became deputy marshall.

In 1876 he resigned and joined the gold rush to Deadwood. After a few months "Bat" returned to Dodge City with an established reputation as a skilled and daring gunman. Since it was then a custom to select a gunman to deal with gunmen, he was elected sheriff of Ford county in November, 1877, at the age of 24.

He was immediately successful. Early in 1878, a few weeks after taking office, "Bat" learned that Dave Rudabaugh, a noted operator, had committed a robbery in another western Kansas county and was in flight toward Texas. Despite the fact that the crime had been committed outside his jurisdiction, Masterson took a small posse and went to a cattle camp on the trail along which he thought Rudabaugh would flee. When Rudabaugh and his half frozen men appeared during a raging blizzard, Bat captured them without firing a shot. Numerous other captures of noted gunmen followed. Bat's star continued to rise.

Downed Brother's Slayers

Shortly afterwards, Bat's brother Edward, marshall of Dodge City, was killed while trying to subdue two drunken cowboys. "Bat" arrived at almost the same instant and shot his brother's killers. The whole episode was over in a few seconds. As information concerning such incidents spread, so did fear and admiration of the young sheriff. Legend soon began to gather about his name.

In personal appearance Masterson was a striking figure. He was six feet tall, well proportioned, graceful in his movements, and weighed about 180 pounds. His hair reached to his shoulders, and he wore a sweeping mustache. His eyes were a pale cold blue that many classed as expressionless but as characteristic of the successful gunman and gambler.

His suits were in the latest style, being, it is said, even more striking than those of Wild Bill Hickok. He wore a Prince Albert coat, a pearl gray bowler, and the finest of handmade boots. He often carried a gold handled cane which he had received when voted the most popular man in town. With all this fancy apparel, "Bat" never appeared in public without his trusted revolvers.

One admirer who knew "Bat" well characterized him as "fearless, but no trouble maker, a gentleman by instinct, of pleasant manners, and mild until aroused, then for God's sake look out. There is nothing low about him. He is high toned and broadminded, cool and brave."

Loyal to Friends

Masterson was loyal to his friends and was favorably known by many eminent men. Theodore Roosevelt was a great admirer and offered to have him appointed U.S. Marshall of Arizona. "Bat" declined saying, "If I took it, inside a year I'd have to kill some fool boy who wanted to get a reputation by killing me."

When he moved to New York in 1902, Roosevelt again offered him an appointment as deputy U.S. Marshall, which "Bat" accepted. After two years, however, he resigned saying that it interfered with his chosen work.

Most of the noted gunman and peace officers of the old West died in the active practice of their professions. This was far from true of "Bat" Masterson, who died, quietly, pen in hand, at his desk in New York City on Oct. 25, 1921, far removed from the scenes and incidents wherein he was listed by one writer as among "those who shot their way to heaven" by helping bring law and order to our last and perhaps wildest frontier.

Backyard Hunt For Bagworms Aids Landscape

You can now pick off a good chunk of next year's caterpillar population.

The caterpillars in point are the nefarious bagworms, ugly critters overwintering as eggs in their ugly cases, hanging on small trees and lower branches of big trees.

On the small lot, picking off the cases and burning them can avoid a lot of landscape headaches next growing season, according to F. C. Carr, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. Most of the backyard bagworms should be within plucking distance because of the feeding habits of the insects. They seem to prefer greenery tidbits at lower arboreal levels and rarely cluster high in tops.

The week-end gardener who rides the scenery of this visible pest at this time is not really thru with the problem. Severe infestations warrant further control measures. This means chalking off the calendar to remind you to initiate a thoro spraying in late spring or early summer.

The hardy bagworm figuratively sneers at DDT and other common insecticides. This critter is controlled only by the heaviest doses of arsenate of lead.

At this time, don't try burning bags out of your trees. This treatment is apt to be more fatal to the trees than the insects!

Predict Water Needs To Double In 20 Years

How to provide this nation with 100 per cent more water in the next 20 years is one of the problems which we face.

The U.S. Department of Commerce neatly summed up the problem, in round figures, earlier this year, reported that the nation now uses 262 billion gallons of water a day and that by 1975 daily water consumption will probably total 453 billion gallons, almost double today's figure.

Increasing per capita use of water and a population growth that has confounded the experts are twin reasons for the expected increase in water consumption.

The upward sweep in the water consumption curve is tied in directly with steadily rising living standards. Since 1890, the daily per capita use has climbed from 95 gallons to 145. The statisticians expect this figure will reach 175 in 20 years.

The trend to suburban living is adding to the need for expanded water systems in smaller communities and for new systems in developed areas, the National Association of Plumb-ing Contractors points out. This 75-year-old professional organization is participating in national water-conservation programs while many of its members are active in these such projects at the local level.

Farmers now can get both 5 and 10-year contracts for shelter belt and wildlife habitat plantings to qualify for soil bank payments under the 1958 Conservation Reserve program.

"IT WAS A NICE TRY, BUT . . ." seems to sum up public opinion about competitive cars attempting to equal the styling and features of the Swept-Wing '58. They tried to get as low, but had to lower the roof to do it. (Less headroom, same high, boxy, cooped-up look.) Their windshields got smaller, while ours got bigger. Most of them still don't have Total-Contact Brakes to assure smooth, even, safe stops when needed. Nor do they offer push-button TorqueFlite, the proven automatic transmission, and Constant-Control power steering that works full time—not part time as some other systems do. And Dodge no-sway, no-dip Torsion-Aire is standard equipment. (Bus-type air springs offered by some cars cost well over $100.00 extra.) So compare all the 1958 models with Dodge. We think you'll agree: Other cars are catching on, but they can't catch up.

Cost Of Auto Accidents In Nation For 1957 Passes $7-billion Mark

The nation was handed its 1957 traffic bill today by Thomas N. Boate, manager of the accident prevention department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, and it came to a staggering grand total of $7,255,600,000.

That is the estimated cost of a single year's traffic mayhem based on figures for the first nine months of this year and a projection thru Dec. 31. It is the highest figure in the history of the automobile.

"The pro rata share borne of the nation's 171,790,000 citizens amounts to $42.23," Mr. Boate said, "while the cost for a family of four is $168.92. Included in the sum are charges for property damage, automobile repair, legal and medical fees, insurance expenses and loss of income thru absence from work."

Deadly December!

He added that in amassing this bill the nation's traffic losses will reach an estimated total of 38,300 deaths, 1,856,000 injuries and 11,700,000 accidents. An extended period of bad weather during the month of December could reduce this toll some by reducing the number of cars on the highway. Otherwise, he said, the usual annual round of holiday shoppers and seasonal celebrants will make December once again the deadliest month of the year.

While deaths will be below the all-time high set in 1956, accidents and injuries, like the dollars cost, are continuing their steady climb and will reach new high levels. Mr. Boate said that this steady increase in the total traffic casualty experience exposes the error of measuring highway safety progress solely on traffic death figures.

As for the $42.23 "bills" charged up to every man, woman and child in the country, Mr. Boate said that they can be marked paid since the cost of accidents is met on a pay-as-you-go basis. However, he pointed out that this is small consolation since, as matters stand, every citizen can count on his share of this economic waste of increase each year for the rest of his life.

Keep Mind on Driving

"These losses will continue," Mr. Boate said, "until we are ready and willing to pay reasonably for safe vehicle and driver control thru effective enforcement, engineering and education and until each individual accepts his personal responsibility for complete obedience to the traffic rules."

The safety authority added that until then, motorists with a realization of the danger and a strong will to live have the best chance of avoiding accidents. Such people, he said, will keep their minds on their driving, will not take small risks to save time and will not violate obvious safety rules like

Law On The Farm

Splash Guards

The truck splash guard law is still with us despite attempts during the last session of the Illinois general assembly to have it repealed. Some changes were made in this law that exempt certain trucks.

The law requires trucks to be equipped with contour-type splash guards that generally must parallel the tread of the tire in the upper right-hand quarter of the wheel and have a two-inch flange or lip on the edge to prevent side-throw. The guard must extend to within ten inches of the ground on the rear of the wheel, but the extension need not contour the wheel. The guard itself may be of either flexible or rigid material, but it must be attached so that it will remain parallel to the wheel while the truck is being operated.

Owners purchasing trucks after August 1, 1957, must comply with the law immediately, but those owners who purchased their trucks before August 1, 1957, have until January 1, 1958, to comply with the contour guard requirement. However, in the meantime, the truck must be equipped with some type of guard.

Exempt from the splash guard law are vehicles with no more than two axles used primarily for agricultural pursuits. Also exempt are trucks used primarily for transporting grain that are dumped or unloaded by lift or hoist, dump trucks, "ready-mix" cement trucks and pole trailers. Some vehicles mainly used in off-highway activity are not required to comply with the law. The Department of Public Safety is empowered to require these vehicles to have some type of splash guard (not contour) while being used on the highways.

That is particularly important in the coming holiday season, he said, if present human and economic loss estimates are not to be exceeded.

Here's A Switch — Santa Writes Letters To Kids

Old as childhood memories, Santa Claus this Christmas season will mark a modern anniversary—the tenth year in which he has undertaken to write to believers from his North Pole post office at Fairbanks, Alaska.

With the collusion of PAA, 100,000 fortunate children last year found such letters in their mail boxes just before Christmas.

Tens of thousands of parents fell in with the plot. But also kindly people all over the country say it as a way to bring cheer to children and adults whose Christmases were a little on the short side.

Here's how to go about enlivening the Christmas season for the young or the old:

1. Writing paper and envelopes with the Santa Claus imprint are available at the Pan American office, 30 S. Michigan, Chicago, or any authorized travel agent. It's free. Just go and get it.

Promises Are Your Own

2. Write the letter on the stationery and sign it Santa Claus. A word of warning here: The promises are your own.

3. Put the letter in the envelope and address it to your offspring, or if you have none, to the one next door. Don't forget to put a 6-cent air mail stamp on it.

4. In another envelope, mail the Santa letter to Pan American World Airways, Fairbanks, Alaska, nearest station to the North Pole, or return it to the Pan American office or travel agent who will forward it to Alaska for mailing.

5. Your letter with the enclosures should be mailed to Fairbanks, or returned to the agent or office, before December 15.

And, just about Christmastime someone's faith will be restored in the good Saint—even though his handwriting has a remarkable resemblance to that of a parent, relative or friend.

Always handle a gun as tho it were loaded.

Read Malachi 3:106 or John 6:16-20.

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life, John 3:16. Crossing the Pacific Ocean by ship from San Francisco to Australia, I went up on deck near midnight to look for the Southern Cross in a windtossed sky. Suddenly a sea pigeon, attracted by the lights of the ship, flew on board. It was very tired and nestled without resistance in my hand. It had been blown and buffeted by the winds. Finally it had sought refuge on the great, pulsing bulwark of the ocean liner.

I thought how similar this tiny bird was to man. He is tossed and thrown about on the vast waters of the ocean of life. But he can find refuge in the Christian faith with the living example of Jesus Christ as the pilot. Christ can carry man safely through; He is God's fulfillment of the promise of the prophets. Man has only to seek Him who is the Light and thus find the security of the Christian faith.

PRAYER

Our Father, we thank Thee for the coming of Christ as foretold by the prophets. We thank Thee for the coming of Thy beloved Son into the world. Help us to confess to Thee our sins and accept Christ's salvation. For His sake. Amen.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"The source of true wisdom and intelligence will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday, December 8, in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Only Cause and Creator."

Scriptural passages will include the following from Psalms (104:24): "O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (275:14): "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love. No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows."

The Golden Text is from Hebrews (3:4): "Every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God."

Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow... (Isaiah 1, 18.)

No man should ever lose heart, hate himself for the wrong things he has done—for God, Our Father, is ever merciful to forgive His truly repentant children, and to give them a new, clean chance to begin again.

Anyone For Oil? Castor, That Is — Mighty Tasty!

By ROBERT MANN

Young Americans of this generation seem to be growing up without much personal experience with castor oil. We parents and grandparents, however, still shudder at memories of times when, after threats or promises, we made a face, closed our eyes, opened our mouth and gulped great spoonfuls of the thick oily stuff. Today, altho more castor oil is produced than ever before, only a tiny fraction of it is used as a laxative.

In temperate regions such as ours, the castor oil plant or castor bean is an annual up to 15 feet tall, a plant that grows anew from its seed each year. Nothing is better for a fast-growing ornamental screen about your home. In warmer climates it is a perennial becoming a tree 30 or 40 feet tall. The leaves are very large, often 20 to 30 inches across, deeply cleft and star-shaped with five to twelve points. The clusters of flowers are followed by spiny capsules which, when ripe, pop open to release three large glossy black or mottled seeds. The Romans thought the castor bean seed looked like a blood-filled dog tick, so they called it by the same Latin name, Ricinus.

Follows Man

Africa is supposed to be the original home of the wild castor bean. It probably became a camp follower of man back in prehistoric times when it grew without care about his dwellings long before its usefulness was discovered. The ancient Egyptians valued its oil almost as highly as that of the olive for their lamps. Over the ages, its cultivation spread to many of the warmer countries of the Old World and, then, to the New World. It escaped and now runs wild in clearings, along roadsides and on dump heaps throughout the tropics and sub-tropics. Both wild and cultivated castor beans are harvested by the natives of many parts of the world. The unripe clusters of seed capsules are spread on the ground until they dry, split open, and the seeds fall out. Then they are winnowed by hand and sold or bartered, often in very small quantities. The pomace, or cake remaining after the oil is pressed out, is poisonous to livestock but can be used for fertilizer.

The total world crop of castor beans is about a billion pounds per year, yielding half that poundage of castor oil. The principal producing countries are India and Brazil with lesser amounts from other Latin American countries, the West Indies, Africa, other parts of Asia, and the United States. American manufacturers use about 40 per cent of the world's crop and import nine-tenths of this.

Has Many Uses

Castor oil and its products have hundreds of industrial uses and chemical research steadily adds more. A substantial amount goes into paints, varnishes and lacquers. A lipstick, a hair tonic, or a shampoo may contain over one-third castor oil. Made into special lubricants for jet engines and racing cars, it does not become stiff with cold nor unduly thin with heat. It is made into plastics, soaps, waxes, hydraulic fluids and ink. During the war it was stockpiled as a strategic material.

The Baker Castor Oil Co., of New York is the largest manufacturer in the industry and has been thru most of its hundred-year history. During the past ten years this company has promoted the development of low-growing, high-yielding castor hybrids that produce a ton of beans to the acre; also special machinery which allows the American grower to compete in the world market. The 18,000 acres now planted to castor beans — mostly in California, Arizona and Oklahoma—is triple that of last year and, soon, is expected to reach 120,000.

Bothered by moles in your lawn? Stick castor beans in their burrows.

LITTLE BILL says:

6¢ a load is all you pay — to dry the clean electric way

An electric dryer does all this for just 6¢: 3 big bath towels, 6 hand towels, 2 sheets, 2 pairs shorts, 2 T-shirts, 5 pairs of socks, 3 pillowcases, 2 men's shirts. This average 8-lb. load will take only 25 to 30 minutes.

Nothing's faster, nothing's cleaner—and electric dryers are completely automatic

COST?

ELECTRIC DRYERS

cost
$30 to $60 less to buy
than any other kind

Just 6¢ to dry an 8-lb. load of clothes the electric way. And the electric way is the completely automatic way. No igniting devices to get out of order.

Clothes dried in an electric dryer have the good fresh smell of all outdoors, too. Electric heat is radiant heat... like the sun. Clean and dry... with no combustion odors to mix with the clothes.

Electric dryers are fast. You can dry a whole load of cottons in just 25 to 30 minutes. And all the "no-vent" dryers are electric. Your laundry stays clean, dry and comfortable, makes venting unnecessary.

You'll be amazed when your electric appliance dealer tells you how little it costs to own an electric dryer. Why not see about it soon?

The Bremen Beat

By EDWIN BRUELL

Bremen community high school was lauded in two separate letters of congratulation by Wheaton citizens after a football contests there against the Wheaton team.

John M. Camp, prominent business man, who is president of an advertising firm in Wheaton, wrote, in part, to Lawrence Callan, Bremen coach:

"You are to be congratulated on the very fine sportsmanship you have instilled in your players on the football team both regulars and substitutes. During the game I viewed this contest from the stands directly in back of your bench.

"The enthusiasm that your boys have, especially those who were on the bench, was most invigorating. The manner in which you conducted yourself was A-1 and, of course, was reflected by your boys, who kept coming on with more vigor and enthusiasm.

"After the game two couples of us went out to a Glenn Ellyn restaurant. There I had a closer look at your boys and was even more enthusiastic about your team and your leadership than ever before. The talking at the different tables was high class, and the way those fellows conducted themselves was par excellent. I went to Wheaton college myself, and, let me say, that, as high class as this school is, your fellows would hold their own with any of the Wheaton college teams as to sportsmanship, acting as gentlemen, and bearing a good testimony of the school which they represent.

"I know that your superintendent must be a very fine fellow to have such a good group of representatives of the Bremen community high school."

The second commendatory letter, to T. R. Birkhead, Bremen superintendent, was from a restaurant proprietor in Glen Ellyn, who stated that, after serving 71 of the Bremen boys, she felt, "We have never served a nicer group of young men. They were orderly and well-mannered, certainly a credit to your community."

Attends English Conference

Patricia Bajt, English teacher at Bremen high, attended the Illinois Speech Association two-day convention recently at Illinois State Normal university at Normal, Ill., which oral interpretation was discussed by leading educators, as well as a meeting on "Rhetoric and Public Address" and a workshop on "Discussion and Debate."

Other meetings were on other phases of debate and discussion, speech education, and radio and television.

A special program attended by delegates to the convention was a Reader's theater production of "Under Milkwood" by Dylan Thomas, late Welsh poet.

Get Chest X-Rays

Bremen Community high school students recently underwent chest x-rays for the purpose of tuberculosis detection.

The examinations conducted by a mobile unit were under the auspices of the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District.

If the initial xray indicates the need for it, a follow up large xray will be given in one of the units that goes from town to town.

"We have never had an active case of tuberculosis occurring in the students who have appeared for xrays here at Bremen," Mrs. Mary Sutor, school nurse, said.

She also stated that physical examinations of all freshmen at Bremen had recently been completed by the school doctor.

Offer Engineers Traffic Course At Northwestern

Traffic engineers from all sections of the country will meet at Evanston for a three-week seminar March 3-21, 1958.

Offered by the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University, the seminar will stress better methods of traffic research, control and planning in the light of rising traffic volumes and the new roadbuilding programs.

George W. Barton, director of traffic engineering for the Traffic Institute, emphasized the seminar is designed for personnel with engineering training or experience. He said the course would be most valuable for junior traffic engineers, city engineers with traffic engineering responsibilities, and personnel who are working on a professional level in related fields.

Three main subject-areas will be covered in the seminar:

—Methods of research and analysis: gathering better data about the current street and highway traffic situation.

—Techniques of control and regulation: ways of making the best of existing facilities, such as one-way traffic systems, signalization, vehicle loading facilities, and curb parking regulation.

—Planning for future growth: elements of city planning, highway planning and design, planning for public transit, and design of parking facilities.

Barton said the seminar will consist of lectures and demonstrations by specialists from a number of engineering agencies throughout the country. In addition there will be discussions, laboratory work problems and field trips. The tuition fee will be $165.

Christmas Spirit Touches Many Thru Works Of Welfare Council

Christmas needs reported by more than 140 Chicago health and welfare agencies are on file at the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago.

Opening last week to begin its 12th consecutive season, the Council's Christmas Clearing House has compiled a list of items needed by thousands of underprivileged families and children under the care of these agencies.

According to Mrs. Marjorie K. Hopewell, Clearing House director, people who want to make Christmas happier for others can find out where their gifts will do the most good by calling the Clearing House at RAndolph 6-0363.

"The children's institutions, settlement houses, old people's centers and other agencies which register with us are in the best position to know what will make Christmas merry for the people they serve," Mrs. Hopewell said. For that reason, the best kind of gift is cash, sent to one of these agencies to purchase presents. For those who wish to give gifts in kind, we have a long list of needed items ranging from food and clothing to bicycles and portable radios."

The Clearing House, she said, can tell givers whom to contact at the individual agencies to make their Christmas donations.

Last year, according to Mrs. Hopewell, the Clearing House channeled $5,586 and countless gifts in kind to health and welfare agencies.

"We hope to do even better this year," she added, "because the demand always exceeds the supply. Even with the Clearing House, many families will have no Christmas at all this year."

SCOTCH PINES SCARCE

Farmers and land owners planning to enter or to continue in Christmas tree production are advised that the supply of Scotch pine is going down rapidly and that, while there probably will be enough to take care of the demand, it would be well to send in orders immediately.

Adult Typing Class Finishes Fall Schedule

The first semester typing class at Lincoln-Way, taught by Miss Gentry, met for the first time this year. Enrollment for the fall class totaled 17.

The typing class was a beginning course for some members of the class and a refresher for others. In addition to the memorization of the keyboard and the various uses of the parts of the typewriter, such items as business letters and personal typing of notes were covered.

The class learned the correct procedure for typing invoices, purchase orders, memoranda, telegrams, payrolls, manuscripts, outlines, and rough drafts.

One lesson was spent in typing stencils and ditto masters and then duplicating the master copies.

A thorough explanation was given on the IBM electric typewriters and the manual machines, including the procedure for cleaning the machine and changing the ribbon.

The final session was spent on building the speed and accuracy of the typists. A similar course will be offered next semester.

A fox trot was named after a New York dancing instructor.

MAURICE P. ANGLAND

It is obvious to say that the spending of public monies by those holding public office, will usually gather more votes than taxation and economics which are necessary to repay the expenditures.

There are two main contributing factors to depreciation of the purchasing power of the dollar or the more popular statement "increase in cost of living index". Without making either more important than the other, they are:

1. Governmental spending beyond tax income or what is called "deficit budgeting."
2. Demands of labor unions wherein their demands as income for their labor, exceeds the rate at which it has increased its productivity increase is only five per cent, three per cent must be added to the cost of living rather than absorbed by increased productivity. There is no way to avoid this.

Most financial columnists emphasize the fact that only ownership of machinery of production, thru common stock, can keep the investor compensated for changes in the purchasing power of the dollar. The point is constantly belabored, but it is doubtful if any investor is interested in saving dollars as a bookkeeping symbol rather than purchasing power.

One of the largest of the Mutual Funds has made a study of the purchasing power of the dollar since 1933 as related to the Gross National Product of the country. The Gross National Product is the total value of all goods and services as expressed in dollars, during a particular year. This table is very interesting for the steady decline in the value of the dollar—except for 1938 to 1940 when it rose slightly. The source of the figures is the U.S. Department of Commerce.

†—Value of 1933 dollar (Annual Average); ‡—Gross National Product in Billions

As to the rise in the Gross National Product and the reduction in value of the dollar, some cynics believe that rather than pay off the government debt, some of the more shrewd politician prefer to allow further devaluation of the dollar and increase in the Gross National Product to the point where the total government debt will bear a smaller percentage to that Gross National Product and thereby make the debt relatively light. The debt is a "fixed dollar obligation."

The economic purists will point out that this is not exactly an honest policy, but they are faced with the fact that few of the voters are interested in money and banking as a science. They are much more interested in paying off "fixed dollar obligations" with "easier" dollars regardless of how it all came about.

Page Doctors On Pocket Radios At Oak Forest

Oak Forest hospital has installed a short wave radio communication system this week which will greatly facilitate contacting doctors, nursing supervisors and security personnel; especially needed during the night shifts, according to Superintendent Carl K. Schmidt, Jr.

Appointed personnel will carry on their person a plastic case which "beeps" when the switchboard dials their designated frequency. The case is not much larger than a king size package of cigarettes.

A Big Place

Prior to initiation of this system the switchboard operator's only means of communication was to contact each ward. This entailed considerable delay as the hospital encompasses eight miles of corridors and buildings are located on over 100 acres of grounds.

An antenna has been installed on top of the administration building, connected to a transmitter on the third floor. A connection between the sending unit comprises the complete circuit. There is no wiring involved between the pocket receiver and the transmitter.

Up The Ladder The Hard Way

In a survey of the nation's top business executives 17 years ago, two Harvard researchers found that 51% were sons of company owners or top officials. They predicted that, by mid-century, the percentages would increase to 75.

But two University of Chicago researchers recently announced, after studying the careers of more than 8,000 top management officials, that the percentage whose fathers were laborers, clerks, salesman, farmers, while there are fewer bosses' has increased 10% since 1928 sons in executive positions.
